OUR ARTISAN OF THE MONTH: QUERIDA MIA BAGS

We met the Artisan at No Need Among You in Fort Worth last Fall. He was weaving in the booth next to us. Over the next few days, through Google Translate and one of our Mission Waco staff, we learned about him and his incredible story. He was arrested and imprisoned after saving his sister from a domestic abuse situation. During his 8 months in prison, he learned how to make these incredible bags. After he was released, he was encouraged to use his new found skill to provide for his family. He took a leap of faith and started Querida Mia. He now employs others from his village in Puebla, Mexico, including the widow who lines each bag. After a bout with Covid leaving her lungs severely scarred, she now can stay at home and provide for her family making the linings.
